by Jessica Eise

Thursday, June 29th | 2-3 pm | SC 179

- ◆ Personal websites are a new, important way of establishing a presence online and in your chosen field.
- ◆ Learning how to manage your own site is an obtainable skill like any other and can help set you apart, cultivate your identity and challenge you to explore your professional interests in more depth.
- ◆ To get the most out of this workshop, it's recommended, but not required, to have a digital copy of a headshot, your resume and recent work or projects that showcase your interests.
